

MONTHLY RACIAL JUSTICE DIALOGUES

Unleashing the Power of Partnership for Learning

Mark Your
Calendars for 2023-2024!

Join this powerful dialogue series, planned and co-facilitated by UP for Learning's youth partners in Vermont, Mississippi, and Connecticut! These dialogues, taking place on the third Wednesday of each month, bring youth and adults together from across the world to have real and relevant conversations about systemic racism and injustice. The heart of these sessions is sharing stories from diverse perspectives, listening for understanding, connecting as a community, and creating affinity groups for action.

Topics from the 2022-2023 school year included: book banning, Black women's history, school responses to racism at sporting events, institutional bias in law enforcement, the intersection of racial justice and environmental justice, the Supreme Court's power, and inequities in schools.

Join us — as a whole class, with your peers or colleagues, or by yourself!
